

Otto Mønsted Visiting Professorships for Foreigners

In 2018 the Otto Mønsted Foundation has earmarked DKK 3.3 million for the remuneration of foreign visiting professors at DTU (Technical University of Denmark) and CBS (Copenhagen Business School).

The departments of these institutions may apply for support to employ foreign visiting professors by using the online application system at www.ottomoensted.dk from February 17 to June 3, 2018.

Applications must be completed, submitted online as well as printed and sent including appendices to the president of the institution.

The application must include the following information:

- visiting professor: name, age and place of employment;
- duration of the professorship;
- academic field and its research relevance in a Danish context;
- the visiting professor's participation in teaching at the institution;
- the possibility of establishing new networks by means of the visiting professorship;
- the visiting professor's significance for the department's academic strategy;
- bibliometric research indicators for the visiting professor.

The Foundation primarily supports three-month visiting professorships. The maximum support will usually amount to DKK 70,000 per month and only cover salary expenditure.

Subsequent application to split the visiting professor's stay in shorter periods, will only be met in exceptional cases.

Academically, the visiting professor must be at professorial level and must contribute to the building up of elitist education. The Foundation gives priority to visiting professors who are not returnees from previous years.

Overheads or administrative expenses are not eligible for support.

The institution's president prioritizes the applications received. The Foundation requests that this prioritisation indicates how the visiting professors will be included in the institution's academic strategy.

Thus, the institution must submit to the Foundation a combined recommendation for the visiting professorship applications received.

This prioritised list is to be sent to the Otto Mønsted Foundation through the online application system, and the visiting professor's significance for the institution's academic strategy is to be sent by e-mail or by post no later than August 5, 2018.

At its September meeting, the Board of the Otto Mønsted Foundation will select the areas of research to be granted funds for a visiting professorship – based on the above-mentioned information.

The Otto Mønsted visiting professors are required to be employed by the institution on the same terms of salary as the institution's own visiting professors.

The grant will be transferred to the institution and administered by the institution, in relation to institutions / foreign guest professor.
